

More and More People Are Owning Cell Phones

Globalization has made cell phone ownership readily accessible, which has been a major boon to quality of life in Western countries.

